

FITTING A GEV IN JULIA

An aerial photograph showing a residential neighborhood in Julia, Mississippi, completely inundated with floodwater. The water is a murky brown color, reaching the roofs of many houses and surrounding the trees. The houses have various roof colors, including grey, brown, and red. The trees are green and their tops are visible above the water. A central street runs vertically through the middle of the image, also flooded. In the upper right corner, a green field and a body of water are visible, contrasting with the flooded area.
